

Project Manager – Land Development (Work from home) Austin, TX

Adams has an immediate opening for a Project Manager in our Austin, Texas office. This position is primarily to service our projects in communities north of Austin. Though some office time is needed this is an opportunity to work from home part of the time and manage projects in the field.

Experience in land development, client relations, in the field coordination and working with City staff is a must. Ideal candidate will possess strong communication skills, motivation and initiative and live in the Austin area.

Requirements: Civil Engineer

- Degree in Civil Engineering
- Texas Licensed Professional Engineer (P.E.)
- Minimum 5 years' experience
- AutoCAD proficiency is a must, Civil 3-D is preferred
- Ability to manage projects in the field

Additional Skills:

- Identifying project scope and budget management
- Knowledge of MS programs such as Word and Excel
- Excellent verbal and writing skills

Our Culture:

Adams promotes a fun and relaxed work environment with half-day Fridays. We are a small to mid-size firm under 50 employees with offices in Dallas, Tyler, and Austin. Our services include civil engineering, landscape architecture, land development consulting, entitlements and master planning/land planning.

Competitive benefits package includes 401K as well as employee paid health and dental insurance.

